4. Our basis for processing personal data and the purposes for which we use it

Performance of contracts. TWL will process your personal data where this is necessary for the performance of a contract with you, or to take steps at your request before entering into such a contract. For example, we need to process personal data in order to comply with the terms and conditions relating to your Company Membership, the purchase of products or services including tickets, funding and player support agreements with players, services contracts with coaches and officials, volunteer agreements and the terms and conditions applicable to the use of our website.

Compliance with our legal obligations. In some cases, TWL needs to process your personal data in order to comply with its legal obligations. For example, we need to process personal data in order to comply with health and safety legislation, carry out DBS (criminal records) checks on coaches, officials and volunteer roles (where relevant) for safeguarding purposes, report certain tax information about our financial arrangements with third parties to HM Revenue & Customs and assist with investigations by police and/or other competent authorities.

Legitimate interests. In other cases, TWL has 'legitimate interests' in processing personal information about individuals we interact with. We have many such interests, including commercial interests and those with a wider public benefit. In essence, our principal legitimate interests are in pursuing our mission to get more people playing tennis more often and administering Welsh tennis in a way that promotes and safeguards the integrity of the sport. For example, we need to process personal data in pursuit of our legitimate interests in order to:

- organise competitions and events, and process and publish results, ratings and rankings data from competitions;
- market TWLs/LTAs products and services (including tickets, performance and participation programmes, coaching courses and events), and promote tennis across Wales more generally;
- ensure the security of TWL/LTA events and premises, including by recording individuals' photographs as part of event accreditation processes and capturing individuals' images using CCTV monitoring;
- operate a customer services team by processing queries, complaints and other information received, conduct surveys and seek advice from advisers with the aim of improving TWL and Welsh tennis as a whole;
- keep appropriate records of players, coaches, officials and volunteers;
- administer and undertake disciplinary, safeguarding, licensing, accreditation, anti-corruption, anti-doping and other regulatory and governance functions (including exercising any right, power or authority in terms of the LTA Competition Regulations or the LTA Disciplinary Code), including any review, process and/ or other involvement by the Designated Role Holders, and keep records in relation to or connection with the same, including of any decisions made in respect of these functions;
- administer our performance programme (for example, monitor player progress or make player selection decisions);
- structure TWL office in Cardiff, storing most personal data centrally and making use of certain software and/or cloud storage providers for the purposes of efficient, fast and secure access to personal data; and
- research and statistical analysis (for example into volunteering practices and patterns).

Where TWL relies on legitimate interests as the legal basis for processing personal data, it has considered whether or not those interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights or freedoms of the individuals whose data are being processed and concluded that the processing is, on balance, fair.

Consent. TWL may also process your personal data on the basis of consent you give, for example when registering for a course, competition or event, signing up for Tennis Wales in the Park and to receive direct marketing communications.

Processing special categories of data. Where we process sensitive personal data, other legal bases for processing may apply, including where our processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims (for example, to protect and/or defend our property or rights, or those of other Welsh tennis stakeholders), for reasons of substantial public interest (for example, to conduct research about player performance, to conduct safeguarding investigations and hearings), for provision of medical care and treatment, for the purposes of equal opportunities monitoring or where you have otherwise given us your explicit consent (for example, to allow the use of performance players' medical records for performance monitoring purposes, or to share those records with another tennis organisation, or where coaches or officials provide us with data relating to criminal convictions and offences as part of the DBS disclosure process).
